

Current Issues in Economics and Finance

2013

Securities Loans Collateralized by Cash: Reinvestment Risk, Run Risk, and Incentive Issues

Frank Keane

Summary

Securities loans collateralized by cash are by far the most popular form of securities-lending transaction. But when the cash collateral associated with these transactions is actively reinvested by a lender's agent, potential risks emerge

View Full Article

Recommended Citation: Keane, Frank. "Securities Loans Collateralized by Cash: Reinvestment Risk, Run Risk, and Incentive Issues." Current Issues in Economics and Finance, 2013.