

3 September 1998

Old government bonds have died, new ones have not been born

Svetlana Babaeva

Dmitry Dokuchaev

Summary

On September 2, 1998, the Central Bank of Russia failed to auction its new zero-coupon bonds owing to low demand. The chairman of the Federal Commission for the Securities Market also warned market participants of the alleged illegality of these central bank bonds.

To view this article in its entirety please use the link provided below.

View Full Article

Recommended Citation

Babaeva, Svetlana and Dokuchaev, Dmitry. "Old government bonds have died, new ones have not been born." Investiia, September 3, 1998. <https://dlib.eastview.com/browse/doc/3168346>.