

March 17, 2009

UPDATE 2-BOJ offers $10.2 billion subordinated loans to banks

Hideyuki Sano
Tetsushi Kajimoto

Summary

The Bank of Japan will offer up to $10.2 billion in subordinated loans to Japanese banks to bolster their depleted capital, it said on Tuesday, in the latest move to try to prevent lending drying up to companies.

Recommended Citation: Sano, Hideyuki. "UPDATE 2-BOJ Offers $10.2 Bln Subordinated Loans to Banks." Reuters. Thomson Reuters, March 17, 2009. <https://www.reuters.com/article/financial-japan/update-2-boj-offers-10-2-bln-subordinated-loans-to-banks-idINT32233520090317?edition-redirect=in>.

View Full Article