[1] On April 6, 2020, the Bank of Israel broadened the repo tool to include corporate bonds as security, in addition to government bonds. For more information, see the press release at <https://www.boi.org.il/en/NewsAndPublications/PressReleases/Pages/6-4-2020.aspx>

[2] In accordance with the Monetary Committee's decision of April 6, 2020, the Bank of Israel provided the banking system with 3-year, fixed-rate loans, with the goal of increasing the supply of credit to small and micro businesses. The program was operated first until the end of May and was renewed in August. Within the framework of this program, the new pillar—which was decided upon on October 22, 2020—began to operate as well, through which the loans are for 4 years at an interest rate of -0.1 percent.

³ In accordance with the Monetary Committee's decision of July 5, 2021, the program providing long-term loans to the banking system against credit extended to small and micro businesses will end on October 1, 2021 or when a total of NIS 40 billion in credit has been extended through the plan.
